Evan Low for Congress Releases Second Campaign Ad: “Shared Values”
30-second ad highlights Low’s track record in office and progressive values

Campbell, CA - Today, Assemblymember Evan Low released his second campaign ad in his campaign to represent California’s 16th Congressional District. The ad, “Shared Values,” communicates to voters what Low has done to uphold the shared progressive values of the Bay Area community. From enshrining abortion rights in California’s constitution, to passing stronger anti-hate crime laws in the face of Trump, the 30-second ad walks through Low’s track record as a lawmaker.

“It is important that voters know about my record of protecting abortion rights, taking on Trump’s hate, and lowering costs for the middle class,” said Assemblymember Evan Low. “I am proud to be giving back to the community that made me who I am, and this ad emphasizes my commitment to delivering results that align with the values of our community.”

The release of “Shared Values” builds upon momentum for Low’s campaign, including endorsements from 12 current and former members of Congress (more than any other candidate), the California Labor Federation, and dozens of community organizations and state and local elected officials.

The script of the ad follows:

LOW: “This election is about who shares your values. Let me share mine.

I’m the only candidate with a record of taking on MAGA Republicans and winning.

When they overturned Roe, I secured abortion rights in our state constitution.

When Trump attacked our LGBTQ and Asian neighbors, I strengthened our hate crime laws.

I’ve fought for all of us struggling to keep up with the rising cost of living.

I’m Evan Low, and I approve this message for all of our shared values.”

ABOUT EVAN LOW

Evan Low is a fourth-generation Californian, born and raised in Silicon Valley. The son of an optometrist and leader of the local Chamber of Commerce, Evan was taught the importance of civic engagement and love for his community from a young age. He attended great public schools in Silicon Valley and stayed local, earning degrees from De Anza College and San Jose State University.

As in so many Asian American families, Evan and his brother were encouraged to become doctors, lawyers or engineers—but the pull towards public service was too strong for both of them. Evan saw local government as the way to give back to his community and his brother Ryan became a police officer.

Symbolizing a new generation of leadership and diverse representation, Evan broke barriers in 2006 as the first Asian American, openly gay, and one of the youngest people ever elected to Campbell City Council. His trailblazing continued in 2009 when he became the youngest Asian American and youngest LGBTQ Mayor in the nation.

In 2014, Evan's dedication to improving lives and delivering results led him to the California Assembly where he marked another milestone as the youngest Asian American legislator in the body's history. In 2015, he founded and chaired the nation's first-ever bipartisan Technology and Innovation Caucus to modernize the state government's approach to a rapidly changing economy.

Throughout his time in the Assembly, Evan has brought diverse coalitions together to deliver results on the biggest issues of our time, maintaining Silicon Valley's global competitiveness, leading the fight on climate change, and lowering costs for middle-class families struggling to live and raise a family in California.

As past Chair of the LGBTQ+ Legislative Caucus, Evan led the charge on marriage equality and expanded civil rights here and across the country. Through his leadership of the Asian American & Pacific Islander Legislative Caucus, Evan has been a powerful bulwark against the rapid rise in anti-Asian hate fueled by the xenophobia and nativism of the Trump presidency.

Recognized for his impact, Evan was named one of the "Top 25 People Who Will Change Silicon Valley" by the Silicon Valley Metro Newspaper, California's "Most Prolific Lawmaker" by the Sacramento Bee and "Legislator of the Year" from leading tech publications, labor unions, healthcare advocates and law enforcement.
